BAMPAC TO HOST HOSPITALITY SUITE DURING THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

Washington, DC - Black America's PAC (BAMPAC) In a statement released today, BAMPAC announced that it will host a hospitality suite at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles, CA.

According to BAMPAC Executive Director Alvin Williams, "The purpose of the hospitality suite is to provide candidates, elected officials, delegates, and others with information on BAMPAC and its mission, and also to provide an opportunity to share their vision for America as it relates to African Americans and Americans generally. The conventions offer an excellent opportunity for candidates and the community to develop a comfort level that will, ultimately, empower the community to make informed decisions when entering the voting booth." The hospitality suite will be located within the "W" Hotel, at 930 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles.

BAMPAC is a non-partisan federal Political Action Committee founded in 1993 with a mission to primarily mobilize African American candidates, as well as other candidates generally, who have common sense approaches to important issues facing today's America.
